Giants Win 7th Two More Games to Decide Pennant

Polo Grounds, New York.—The Giants won a nerve-racking pitchers' battle from Mays Wednesday afternoon by a score of 2 to 1. The spitballer Douglas won the decision by a hair line over the underhanded flinger Mays.

Wards' error of an easy grounder, after two were out in the seventh, and Snyder's two-base hit, laid the American leaguers low.

The series now stands: Giants 4; Yanks, 3.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY
ENDS "TRIANGLE"Kansas City Man Shoots Girl and Self With Gun Nearby.

By Associated Press

Kansas City, Mo.—While his wife waited in a motor car outside Harry H. Slick stepped into the beauty parlor of Miss Hazel Masten, a divorced Tuesday night, drew a revolver and fatally wounded the girl. Then he killed himself.

Behind the tragedy there hovered the sacrifice of Mrs. Slick, who, cognizant of the love affair of her husband and the beauty specialist, had agreed to obtain a divorce so that he might marry the girl.

Note to Girl's Father.

Mrs. Slick, hearing the revolver reports, rushed upstairs into the beauty parlor. A note addressed to the girl's father, W. H. Masten, was found in the dead man's pockets.

"Don't worry. I am crazy," it said. "I do not. Without her life is nothing to me. We have been married one year, and she belongs to me."

To the police Mrs. Slick told of the love triangle and of her husband's infatuation for Miss Masten.

"He told me everything yesterday," she said. "He had loved me better than his wife. But I consented to a divorce because I loved him. He told me he had gone through a marriage ceremony with Hazel, although we were still married at the time."

"The other day she found out. She said she would send my husband to the penitentiary for bigamy. He has been distracted ever since. He has scared to death."

Death by Girl's Father.

The father tonight denied that there had ever been a marriage ceremony performed between his daughter and Slick. He said Miss Masten had been greatly annoyed by Slick's devotion to her, and had considered asking the police for protection.

The girl was 24 years old. Slick was 35 and his only daughter. Neighbors said Mrs. Slick had remained for a year in ignorance of her husband's double life. They had, apparently, lived happily together. The shooting took place in a fashionable south side residential district.

Saturday the Gazette printed a number of letters from mayors of Wisconsin in answer to some questions asked by the editor. Some letters did not reach the Gazette in time for publication. Those are being printed today.

R. D. Gorham, mayor of Monroe says, that the largest problem of the year has been to curb the rule of moonshiners, and bootleggers. The largest expenditure has been in cutting down unnecessary expenses. The biggest item established has been the installation of water mains, sanitary and storm sewers to the amount of $60,000. The budget for next year will be about the same.

Other letters received too late for print are:

Editor Gazette.

The greatest problem in Port Washington the past year has been to find work for the unemployed.

This is what was done: The community sold put through a bond issue of $25,000 and this $25,000 is now used on general city improvements, as digging, severs, laying water mains, etc. The city buys all the materials on open market and through local dealers. The city hires the labor and pays fair wages. The work is in charge of the mayor and councilmen.

Results—We have no unemployed men and no one on the pauper list.

The city bought a tract of land two blocks square, covered with 75 per cent shade trees, put in running water, drinking fountains, automobile parking places, and camp grounds. This is called "Tourist Camping Park" and it was a grand success. We shall add to it next year.

We opened a municipal bathing beach on the shores of Lake Michigan on June 1—dressing rooms free. We placed a band stand there and gave free weekly concerts, with music by Zimmerman's military band. Concert nights were in charge of the American Legion post. The amateur attendance on concert nights was 2,500 people—a most wonderful success.

Our budget for 1922 is considerably smaller than 1921.

I shall be in Janesville when your honorable mayor "turns over the key."

"Don't Keep Your Money in the House to Tempt Thieves"By HENRY C. WALLACE, Secretary of Agriculture.

In every community there are men and women sinning against themselves and against their fellow men by keeping from $200 to $10,000 around the house. Farmers and town people are both guilty in this respect. They are laboring under the impression that things are going to get worse and worse, and the final crash comes and then they will be at a pecuniial advantage because they have a stock of hard cash on hand. In a few cases farmers are holding cash around home because they fear that if they put any large sum in their checking account at the bank, the banker will insist that they apply it on their notes with the result that they will be crippled in a short time for working capital. Bankers who inspire this kind of fear in the hearts of their customers are as guilty of the sin of hoarding as the men who are doing the hoarding themselves.

Hoarding Money.

Is hoarding money really a sin? Doesn't a man have a right to keep hundreds or even thousands of dollars in cash around the house if he wants to? Surely he has a right, in times like these, to regard the exercise of such a right as a downright sin.

Cash kept around the house is dead money. Cash deposited in the bank is live money. A dollar of cash deposited in the bank serves as a source of income to the bank, and the final result is that the bank will use this money to pay off other debts or buy something which he really needs.

The final result is that the bank will use this money to pay off other debts or buy something which he really needs.

SCHOOL "FAIR" IS BIG DRAWING CARD

Adams Parent-Teachers' Association Put on Complete Expo.

Rivalling in magnitude of exhibits and attendance a genuine county fair, with its barkers and enterers vending their wares with side shows and midway, the Adams "county fair," staged Tuesday night at Adams school under the auspices of the Adams school Parent-Teachers' association, attracted a crowd which packed the building.

Official attendance figures for the one day of the fair is $50 paid admissions. According to Miss E. May Clark, principal of the school, the number of exhibits in the different divisions were beyond expectation. The educational division, the floral, the stock, vegetable, fancy work, art and baking division drew a large number of exhibitors for the premiums offered. Judging was completed before the gates were opened at 7:30.

Side Shows Popular.

The side shows received heavy patronage. Ten members of the Bower City band dressed as "hicks" played for the crowd in the evening. The Knights of Pythias "colored" jazz band composed of Clarence Moens, director; Charles Trainer, Clayton Orcutt, Victor Madson and Harold Jersild, played on the midway during the entire evening. Miss Flavia Blakely sang several solos accompanied by the Bower City band. The "farmer" just in from the country, who accompanied Miss Blakely, was Art Dutchie. C. J. Deacon, the barker for the midway and Mrs. Deacon, the ticket seller.

On the midway were the midgets, Vera Luedke and Betty Yancy; the departed soul; the prettiest person in Janesville, and the musical trio, composed of Keth Bolton and Fred Holt as the buck and wing dancers, augmented by the drummer, Leroy Holtzow.

Plantation Scene.

Mrs. Jean Richards directed a plantation scene as a sideshow, whose success is evidenced by the fact that each performance was packed. The show was staged with lighting effects such as are not seen in theaters and which added to the completeness of the performance. Mrs. Richards trained the act a week's time. Those who participated were Roger Cady, Donald Fitchett, Harold Johnson, Donald Van Pelt, Robert Hall, Alfred Schoenbeck, Robert Richards, William Hoyland, Joseph Gessick, Helen Schell, Helen Burns, Frances Baker, Doris Richards, and Inez Meyer.

Another sideshow was "The Garden Coronation," directed by Mrs. J. Richards. Those who participated were Jean Branson, Elsie June Fathers, Athene Sheldon, Adeline Dens, Betty Gsell, Barbara Gsell, and Anna Kalske.

Earl Jensen and Fred Blankenship were the dwarfs and Frank Holt was the barker, who also cried for the "big pond" in the same room.

Variety of Livestock.

There was a great variety of animals exhibited as pets, such as pigeons, canaries, dogs and rabbits. In other cages were mice, chickens, guinea pigs, gold fish, ducks and a goose.

The agricultural exhibits were large and included every vegetable grown in gardens or on farms; Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, made out of cabbages, with a hat of parsnips and grapes; an airplane of potato; a hog made out of a turnip; a house made from pumpkins; a housewife formed from a carrot, who among the novelties, were the work of pupils of the school.

In the educational department were exhibits of work done by the children of the various classes. This department proved of much interest to the parents, as it was the only department where the work of the children was shown. The work included pictures made of colored paper, writing problems, covers for books, books with pictures, spelling books, maps and other exhibits of their work. The cups offered by the Gazette for athletics were on display. A collection of butterflies, a doll house, a theater in miniature also were shown.

Baking High Class.

In the baking department were the finest of cakes, pies, cookies, rolls and doughnuts, sold for the benefit of the school fund. There was a large floral display. Towels, centerpieces, pillow cushions, woven rug rags, dressed capes and wonderful pieces of fancy work were shown.

Dr. W. G. Theurer was in charge of a shooting gallery and Dr. C. W. Van Kirk sold "hot-dogs" and "ham-burgers."

The halls were so crowded, before show time, that it was practically impossible to get through the door. The fair gave a good indication of the work being done, and drew the parents to the school where their children are receiving their education. The women of the Parent-Teachers' association, the teachers and the pupils of the school are elated over the success of the affair.

STOLEN CAR FOUND ON SHOPIERE ROAD

Oakland Car Taken Here Sunday Night Recovered Near City.

Stolen from its parking place near the Hotel London, between 7 and 8 p. m. Sunday, the 1919 Oakland touring car owned by Ray Wagoner was recovered by police Tuesday afternoon, a half-mile southeast of the Rock Island Suburban company's plant.

Chief Charles Newman is wondering whether the car was merely "borrowed" by joy-riders, bonafide auto thieves or petty thieves who wanted only a few parts. When found, the car was standing at one side of the Shapiere road, just off the Janesville-Delavan road, and was minus two tires, lenses and bulbs, and other equipment.

Wagoner was notified and returned to the city with the machine, Tuesday night.

MAYOR INVITED TO DULUTH PORT MEET

Mayor T. E. Welsh has been invited to attend the Port Development conference at Duluth, October 24-25, called for the purpose of taking further steps toward the realization of the Great Lakes-Atchafalay deep waterway. From the middle of 1920 until early this year Judge Gary derided the high cost of living. In March, due to the increasing dullness in the industry, the committee made its first wage cut. Since then common laborers who on Jan. 1, were earning about $6 a day, have been cut to as low as 30 cents an hour.

The finance committee, it is stated, believes the plan provided by the expenditure will carry employees along and the steel industry returns to normal.

No announcement has been made as to what form the additions will take. The executives of each subsidiary will suggest certain construction for their own plants.

CULTIVATED CROPS SHOW GOOD GAINS

Corn, Potatoes, Tobacco Increase in Wisconsin During September.

[By Associated Press]

Madison.—Cultivated crops in Wisconsin made substantial gain during September with an increase of 6,500,000 bushels in the principal corn yield of 2,000 bushels in the potato crop and 4,700,000 pounds in tobacco. Cabbages, however, declined 10,000 tons from the August estimate and onions 65,000 bushels.

Corn established a new Wisconsin record, the estimated production on October 1 condition set at $2,335,000 bushels compared to $2,363,000 estimated on September 1, $6,044,000 produced in 1920 and a five year average of $2,363,000 bushels. Entire freedom from frost in September is said to have insured ripening of the corn to the optimum limits of the state.

Ample rainfall and above seasonal temperatures during the last month are reported to have increased the size and weight of the ear. The condition of the crop on October 1 was 98 per cent of normal, compared to 94 per cent on September 1, 87 per cent in 1920 and a ten year average of 91 per cent. The average yield per acre of grain is estimated at 54 tons per acre, of corn at 75 in 1920.

Potatoes Are Better.

Favored by temperatures, frequent rains and absence of frost, the potato crop showed substantial increase of 2,550,000 bushels. Vines remained green until the last week and growth continued, especially in the central district, according to the report. The October 1 condition was 95 per cent of normal, in comparison to 50 per cent in September and a ten year average of 75 per cent. Production is estimated at 32,253,000 bushels, compared to 32,264,000 in 1920, and a five year average of 27,757,000 bushels.

Wisconsin tobacco is reported to have increased 4,700,000 pounds in September, due to the fact that the late planted crop began to grow following the rains of the month. The yield is of August. The previous yield is of 61,438,000 pounds, compared to 66,763,000 pounds on September, 62,400,000 produced in 1920 and a five year average of 52,928,000.

Early Crop Best.

The condition on October 1 was 92 per cent, compared to 85 per cent in September, 91 per cent a year ago and a 10 year average of 88 per cent. Early planted tobacco went to market early and in excellent condition, the report says. Each of the late planted was hindered by rains, and some pole rot developed in the muggy weather of the last week in September.

According to the report, Wisconsin cabbage did not respond to the rains of September as much as was anticipated. Blaekley is also said to have caused some loss with the result that production is estimated at 6,600 tons, compared to 7,000 tons on September 1, and a yield of 166,000 in 1920. The preliminary estimate of 1920 shows a per acre of 5.4 tons compared to 10.3 produced in 1920, and a 9 year average of 8 tons.

Sugar Beets Increase.

Beets for sugar made a slight increase during the month. Condition is estimated at 82 per cent compared to 81 per cent in September, 84 per cent last year and a ten year average of 83 per cent. Production is estimated at 25,000,000 tons, compared to 23,000,000 tons a month ago, 23,600,000 produced in 1920 and a five year average of 150,000 tons.

The production of onions is estimated at 91,000 bushels, compared to 17,000,000 tons last month, 65,000 produced in 1920 and a five year average of 284,000 bushels. Preliminary estimate of average yield per acre is 31 bushels compared to 40 bushels in 1920 and a nine year average of 217 bushels.

MILTON JUNCTION

CLUB IS TOLD WHY DEPOT WAS DELAYED

Milton Junction.—Arguments against constructing a union depot here soon were presented before the Fortnightly club Tuesday by J. A. McDonald, superintendent of the Madison division of the Milwaukee road, B. M. Thompson, lessor, general superintendent of the North western road, and O. D. Apell, district adjuster for the Northwestern road.

The industrial crisis was given by the officials as the reason why the time agreed upon for building the new station has been extended. High wages, competition by automobiles, heavy overhead expenses and scarcity of ready money had made it necessary to postpone the construction of the depot, it was declared.

They promised to make several improvements on the present station, which was formerly a railroad passenger coach.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE OPENS SESSIONS

J. G. D. Mack, state chief engineer, and A. R. Hirsh, state engineer, were present with the chief speakers.

Longer Sessions Arrives.

Lord H. MacGregor, secretary of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, arrived Wednesday morning from the American Legion's course at the Baptist church Tuesday night. His program and that of the two assisting speakers, John C. Konold, secretary, and J. Johnson, pianist, was of the highest quality.

"Although we have no way of telling now many will be here, early registration gives promise of its being the largest convention in history," said Mr. Hirsh. "We expect 200 registrants at La Crosse last year, but we should have at least 300 this year because Janesville is nearer the center of population in Wisconsin and more easily accessible by both rail and automobile.

With the weather ideal for driving, a large number will probably come in cars.

"Practically the entire city administration of Madison is going to be here, from the mayor, the mayor of Kitchens and several of the aldermen and department heads will come by automobile.

Mayor Is Optimistic.

"They are coming in rather slowly this morning but that's because so many are driving here and planning to arrive in time for the afternoon session," said Mayor Welsh at convention headquarters at noon. "I look for the convention to be the biggest and best yet."

Manager L. O. Holman and the entire staff of the Chamber of Commerce were kept busy all day Wednesday, taking charge of reception and registration. Members of the registration committee were on hand at the Chamber all morning but were somewhat disappointed because few of the officials were accompanied by their wives.

"Aren't any of the women coming?" some of the delegates were asked.

"What for?" was the reply of one official.

Want Citizens at "X."

Arrangements were completed for the banquet in the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night. Mayor Welsh and Manager Holman, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, made plans for all committees and people who aided in the work, both men and women, to attend the banquet.

"We want 400 people there for a general good time and welcome to our guests," said the mayor. "The citizens should attend as much as possible to join in the welcome. We want them there."

Public officers from northern cities arrived during the noon hour increasing the registration. Racine and other cities will be represented during the meeting Thursday.

On the office of the Chamber of Commerce and committee members had buttons inscribed, "I live here—Ask me."

Arrival of Delegates.

Janesville gave the delegates a warm reception as they arrived Tuesday night, and all day Wednesday. Autos were on hand at the depot to meet each incoming train which brought city officials from all parts of the state. Delegates from the northern cities, La Crosse, Hudson, Chippewa Falls, and Oconto were among the first arrivals, some of them having come in Tuesday night.

Mr. Bergman said that had posture and incorrect care of the feet, from improperly fitted shoes, caused incorrect standing. He called attention to Dr. Barker's schedule card for exercises; simple and effective means for home calisthenics. Dr. Barker lectured in Janesville last year and many people indicated their intention of following his instructions. Some of the Barker cards are still at the Y. M. C. A. for those who wish them.

President Roy Wisner and Secretary S. C. Hull, local merchant, are chairman of the committee which will attend at the Blaekley room. They will give some of the high lights which the first Rotary and indicated the local club's part in the program. George King spoke briefly of the logging industry in which he is interested and pointed out the great original investment and the difficulties incurred in cutting and marketing the commodity.

Sup't Frank Holt urged the assistance of the club members in the high school students' effort in producing the annual number of the Phoenix.

Several delegates musical numbers were rendered by Mrs. McDevitt, chairman, with Mrs. E. B. Ladd as accompanist. Edmund Leary sang for the club members, with Cal Blodgett as accompanist.

Several visiting members of the League of Municipalities were present as guests.

CHAPTER XLVI.

GUESTS

Late spring passed into summer. I began to pile up again. I watched the sheen come back to my hair, a richer gold color, into a tan, a result of sun and air and my improved health. My skin took on again the earthy whiteness it normally possessed instead of the dead blue white of the winter.

"You belong to the type that shrivels up easily. If you don't look after yourself properly," my very frank Aunt Harriet said one afternoon. "You're quite beautiful now. You can retain your beauty up to your thirties. After that, you'll go old much faster. You're fragile, but you do, too. That's why I wanted to make a brilliant match for you while you were at the height of your beauty."

"To whom?" I asked suddenly. Aunt Harriet had come out, after much persuasion, for the week end. I had made the guest room as nice as possible by dressing it up with the things brought from the old apartment, and I hired a woman from the village to do the chores of the work. I was a welcome cook than I, and my maid after a Saturday and Sunday of police boredom, was ready to be perfectly frank and impolite by Monday morning.

She was sitting in a little rocker in my room, while I changed from my working dress into a suit and sat and waited for the smartest fashion girls to come for the station break and take her away. The break was late and she was possessed by her peculiar horror—missing the train.

"There were various people," she answered. "Not all of them in New York. Your father knows some very good families on the other side—there's Lord Rose—"

"Rosedale,"

"Not Rosedale himself, but his son who is his son's son. There's the Marquis de Grenville—he belongs to the Bourbon family."

"His family would not do me much good, and I've heard of his reputation," I said suddenly. "You're nice enough to win you and Father, but you would be delighted to see our marriage break up."

"I would if it happened this side of your 30th birthday, then I could make a really good match—"

"All you think of in marrying me is money or some position or family. You never think of my happiness."

I expected her to become perfectly furious. Instead, to my surprise, she merely smiled at me in a tolerant fashion as though I were a little child.

"I can't see that you have done much better by marrying one who has neither money (none worth mentioning) nor position."

"I am," I burst out indignantly.

"Don't be a fool. And don't declare I'm happy in that tragic tone of voice. I've eyes and I can see. I've ears and I can hear—"

"A lot of gossip. That's all we talk."

Aunt Harriet rose.

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

BEAUTIFYING BATHS

Frequently I find inquiries from readers about various sorts of beautifying baths which can be managed on a small income and without a great deal of trouble.

So here are a few hints:

If you have a tendency toward rheumatism, if you feel cold coming on, or if you like the luxury of a Turkish bath—which is marvelous for health and beauty—try a hot steam bath over your own bath room. It may have one of the regular cabanas, all right, if not you can manage a substitute without much trouble.

Have your bathroom warm. If you've a tub and running hot water, partly fill the tub with water as hot as you can stand it comfortably, then sit in this with a couple of blankets drawn over your shoulders and, extending over the edges of the tub. This holds in the steam from the water and gives you a steam bath.

A better way is to place a large basin of boiling water under a chair, then sit on the chair with a large towel over your shoulders and blankets over that to make a little tent about you from your neck to the floor. This holds in the steam and the heat will open the pores of the skin and, as a result, aid in the system of much waste matter.

Of course you must follow this at once with a cool or cold bath, either a shower, or a sponge off in a tub or basin. Then rub with alcohol to be sure the pores are closed, and be careful of draughts for a few hours.

Tell One—Wear your skirts as full as possible, to conform with the fashion, and do not line the trimmings that will cut your height.

As you mature your height will not be noticed as you will fill out and most likely be a very fine looking woman.

Buddies—The walnut juice is made by steeping walnut hulls in boiling water, until all the coloring has been extracted. Apply to these light streaks of hair by using a sable brush, as the decoction will stain the fingers or any other part of the skin that it touches.

Patient Gerry—All of these scars should be a luxurious necessity.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I should like to know a little tale of woe and ask you if I am right or wrong. I will refer to myself as "A" and my neighbor as "B".

"A" bought a knitted tam for her baby. It being the last one of its kind in stock it was purchased at one-half the market price, $1.50.

"B" admired this tam greatly and because she could not buy or crochet one like it, offered to make a bonnet for "A's" baby in the latest fashions. "A" accepted the offer and "B" said there would be paying "B" $1.50 for making the bonnet besides the additional expenditure for materials, and therefore would not care to do it. "B" then offered to pay for the tam the reduced price of $1.50 and make the bonnet if "A" furnished materials, and so it was agreed. The materials for the bonnet amounted to $2.90, almost twice the price of the tam.

"B" was to have lined the bonnet with a lining, also furnished by "A". When this bonnet was completed it did not contain the lining, and therefore too light for winter wear.

"B" says that she should be given the tam by "A" for making the bonnet as it was a great deal of work. She said a neighbor told her she had earned the $1.50 for her work.

In the first place she made or rather suggested the bargain, not I. Second, she was to have made the bonnet an inducement for me to sell her the tam, which is fully worth $3. original price. It made a mistake in letting her the tam in the first place and am not satisfied with the

MUST ALTER LAND POLICY, ASSERTION

Need for Change in Administration Seen by Three Commissioners.

(By Associated Press.)

Madison—Need for change in the policy of administering the 300,000 acres of state lands was found by the commissioners of public lands. Henry Johnson, state treasurer; Elmer S. Hall, secretary of state, and W. J. Morgan, attorney general, during their five day inspection trip just completed.

They have returned to Madison and will hold a meeting within the next few days to determine upon a definite policy, which it is expected will result in the abolition of the present method of leasing state property to private individuals for their unregulated use. The commissioners are agreed that some extensive change is necessary.

Wants Inkton Open

There are 28 beautiful lakes in the territory owned by the state, which make ideal summer vacation resorts for citizens of the state, and are now largely leased to private individuals, Mr. Hall said. He will favor a plan to abolish the policy of leasing and will urge substitution of the New York plan of having the lands open to all citizens for recreation.

At the present time, says Mr. Carson and other out of state people, as well as influential citizens are able to obtain as much as 500 feet of lake frontage under long term leases and at nominal yearly payments. Mr. Hall declared, the commissioners found in some places that lessees were building substantial cottages and garages on the state land and keeping other out of the walls of their houses. He believes all of these practices should be prohibited.

Would Sell Logs

Treasurer Johnson expressed it as his opinion that the lake front property should be divided into small lots and sold. In that way, he says, the counties will obtain taxes, and the abuses of the lease system be removed.

The land owned by the state is all uprooted slashings, the commissioners say, with a second growth of timber well started in some sections. This large territory was originally owned by the state, who sold it to individuals and, after they had cut off the timber, bought the land back at a discount to grow.

Some reforestation work has been done, but because of the continual change in the persons in charge of the commissioners in the act of the commissioners in the dispensing of large tracts from time to time, it is said to have been found difficult to do any extensive planting with assurance that the trees will be given an opportunity to grow.

The present commissioners expect to recommend complete changes in the policies of handling the lands and their future administration.

STRANGER DIDN'T WANT TO TRAVEL TO "COURTESY"

Davenport, Ia.—He was a stranger from Iowa— from Chicago—and asked a trade car what car to take to the Orphans' home.

He was directed to board a car bearing the Oakdale sign.

Cars passed, but the stranger still stood on the corner.

"What's the matter, don't you want a 'street car'?" inquired the policeman. "Yes, I do," impatiently responded the stranger, "but all these cars go to 'Courts' and I want to go to the Orphans' home."

"Courts" is the latest slogan adopted by the street railway company to establish a better fellowship between passengers and train crews.

Painful Rheumatic Swellings Disappear

Discoverer Tells People's Drug Store and All Good Druggists Not to Cent of Anyone's Money

Unless Allen's Completely Bans All Rheumatic Pains and Twinges.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years from rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless suffering, that he could be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the system.

With this in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that entirely and completely banished every disease and ailment of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. Thousands of people, who failed to learn anything everywhere know about his discovery through the newspaper. People's Drug Co. has been appointed agent for Allen's in this vicinity, with the understanding that he will receive a return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets as a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "tired" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "pork up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

You just know you're all right.

After a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet, wise people keep a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets handy. They turn these attacks off before they come. And such people eat what they like—like pie, cheese, sausage, chicken, cakes, pork and beans and other such supposedly indigestibles without suffering from the acid, sour, belching, gassy stomach due to dyspepsia. These tablets give the alkaline effect to thus sweeten the stomach and make it comfortable. Try them if you are subject to indigestion. You will find them on sale at all drug stores at 50 cents a box.

JAPS WOULD RAISE PHILIPPINE ISSUE

Fortification of Islands Vital Question in Connection With Disarmament.

Washington.—Tokio, telegrams say, Japan would like to bring up the status of the Philippines when the conference on Far Eastern questions is held here next month has brought out several informal expressions of opinion at this end which indicate that that problem will not be insuperable.

The Japanese contention that American fortifications are regarded by Japan as purely offensive is not seriously regarded in Washington where a division of opinion has always prevailed as to the real value of fortifying the archipelago. One set of military men in our government, while money being spent on Philippine fortifications is wasted not only because the United States does not intend to become a military nation and of course will never keep an army overseas big enough to justify the maintenance of fortifications but because the Philippines are accessible to an attacking army from too many places.

This school of army thought believes that any fortifications which are ineffective had better be given up and that reciprocally Japan might be induced to stop fortifying some of the Pacific Islands under her control.

Want Big Forts There.

Those American military and naval men who favor large fortifications in the Philippines argue that even admitting that the Philippines cannot be defended from an expeditionary attack of considerable size, it would be helpful to the United States to be able to hold the Philippines in an emergency until the navy could bring reinforcements. It is further contended that Manila could be used effectively as a naval base.

Here also the question of how large a fleet the United States will have to maintain or rather can afford to maintain in the Pacific comes into discussion. With the American navy divided between the Atlantic and Pacific, the building of a naval base simply to care for the vessels now in the Pacific is not considered altogether sound. On the other hand, an immense expenditure would be required for a really large naval base which would be the world's expense of the American navy in an emergency in the Far East.

So there is a divergence of view even among our own military and naval experts as to what ought to be done about fortifying the Philippines. And it would not be surprising to see our own delegation finally persuaded to offer to help further military expense in the Philippines if the Japanese curtailed their naval and military program too much.

Philippine Independence.

As for the question from Tokio that the Philippines might be given their independence and placed under international control, that of course is a domestic question which the United States need not discuss with the Japanese. The prevailing view inside the Harding administration is that the Philippines are not yet ready to be cast off to shift for themselves and that it would be best for the Philippines if America remained in control of the islands. Great Britain independently would not be happy to see the principle of self-determination adopted so close to India and there are other powers with Far Eastern possessions which would prefer to see the status quo maintained with respect to the Philippines.

There is good ground for the belief that the Japanese themselves are divided upon the question of advancing or disbanding to Japan in the grant of independence by the United States to the people of the islands. Commercially Japan has profited immensely by America's possession of the Philippines. Not only has a big tourist travel been developed which always includes Japan on any trip to the Philippines, but the trade of Japan with the Philippines has been growing leaps and bounds since the United States took over the islands from Spain.

Want to Be in Conference.

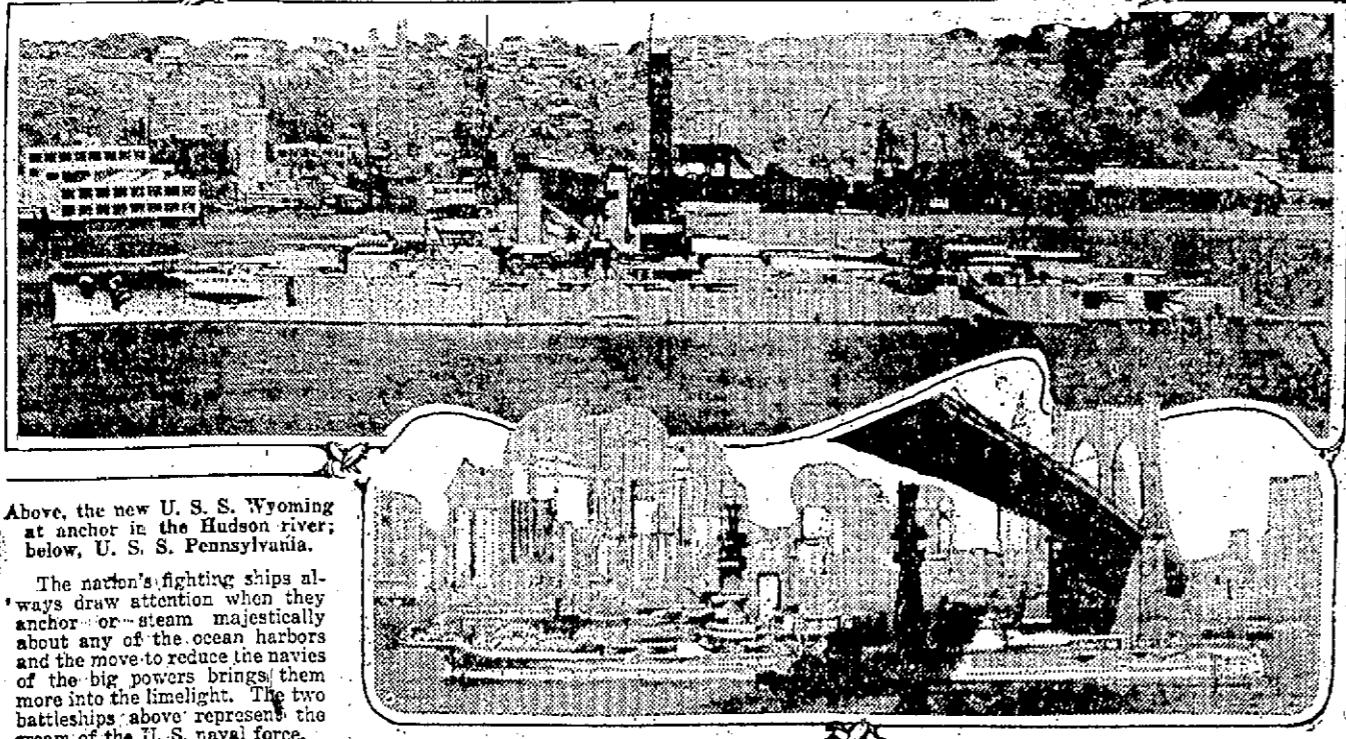

The Philippine commissioners here are anxious that the United States government include them as members of the armament conference in some advisory way so that when the interests of the Philippine people are discussed, the representatives may be present. The Japanese are also insisting on this. They want to be consulted. The probabilities are that if they make a formal request for such a status it may be granted as there is no particular objection to it among liberal minded officials who see in the move an action of courtesy to the Philippines which are an integral part of the whole far eastern problem.

Bursting of Cooperative for Farm Bureau Advice "Bubble" Virtual Triumph

PLEDGE OF PROGRESSIVE ROCK COUNTY FARMERS

1.—I will not eat oleomargarine because I am a producer of butter.

2.—I will dry my seed corn thoroughly with artificial heat, for the wind mill is the poorest place known.

3.—I will use lime on my acid soils because it makes the alfalfa and clover grow.

4.—I will plow my tobacco and corn land in the fall so that the worms will be frozen during the winter.

5.—I will not knock my farm associations because I would be kicking myself.

6.—I will not buy stock in companies or a stock feed until I prove successful.

7.—I will not use a scrub sira because scrub sires and scrub farmers go together.

8.—I will let my children join the junior livestock associations and I will not put the money in my pocket when the animal is sold.

9.—I will join the farmers' marketing organizations for I know that the associations can market products better than I can.

10.—I will boost Rock county all the time. I will boost my organizations and I will boost my neighbors, thereby helping myself.

It has cost Rock county farmers a few thousands to learn that "investigation first" is the golden rule of investment.

Since the Cooperative Society of America company bubble has bursted with bankruptcy proceedings started in Chicago, many farmers are thankful for advice and information furnished by the Rock County Farm Bureau warning against investing in the corporation.

Rock county farmers are stung recently on the wide sale of stock feed which the farmers report to be unsatisfactory.

Investigate first, and if we do not know, we will do our best to find out and obtain full information to protect the farmers," say both C. E. Culver and R. T. Glasco.

Youth Roots County.

Watertown.—The boosters of Rock county boast the reputation of the district for prize stock during the junior livestock exposition in Madison starting October 15. The exposition is being held by the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association, of which Edward H. Parker is president and George Davies, secretary.

Among the Rock county boys and girls who will compete in the state contest are Eddie L. Dill, son of Harry Dill, Shorthorn calf in baby class; Eddie Clark, Holstein calf; George Arnold, Durocs; Ruth and Charlotte Clark, Chester Whites; Russell and Stephen O'Connor, Poland Chinas.

The more prizes they win, the greater the reputation of the county as a leading stock center. The country is the leader in cattle, swine and sheep, but to get people to know and realize it is the valuable point.

Recent weather conditions have played a popular part in the raising of sugar beets. The daily program handed out by the weather man is a clear and cold morning with heavy rains in the evening or night.

It is time for the harvest of beets and the sugar factory here will open this month, probably after the 15th.

What is wanted is frosty nights and warm days to get the sugar out of the beets, according to W. E. Davis, manager of the Rock County Sugar company.

The beets have not fully ripened and cannot be harvested because of the drenched fields. With so much moisture the beets keep right on growing while a frost would check them and increase the compounds which produce the sugar. Last year was an exceptionally good one for high yielding beets.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

The Gazette again calls attention to some of the letters which must be followed in printing for the Voice of the People. In all cases the person writing must give the correct name and address. Otherwise the letter will go into the waste basket. It is not necessary for the name to be printed, but the person writing must be known to the editor. A letter came Tuesday signed by a "Factory Employee." There was nothing to tell from whom it came and it went into the waste basket. Letters must be kept down to 50 or so words. Personal attacks are not permitted. Cut out the personalities. Sign your name. If you have anything that you think the public should know, write. The more letters we have the better we like it.—EDITOR GAZETTE

Editorial Gazette:

I wish to make a few statements in regard to Mr. Murphy's reply to my former letter. In the first place, he says he is educated and is a citizen. I never heard of any necessary for an educated and courageous man to inform people that he bore these qualifications. Those facts are determined by his speech and by his actions. He says he is an Ulsterite and is proud of it. Well he can rest assured that Ulster is not proud of him. He states that Delfst in 1918 was the only city in Ireland harboring venereal disease. Statistics show that Delfst's population consisted of 160,000 men who in 1918 were infected in the autumn of 1915. These men came, mainly, from Belfast and vicinity. Their plagues were taken by seafarers and slackers from the south and west (no respect to those loyal men from the south and west). It is no wonder venereal disease was prevalent in Belfast in 1918. This is also very readable and explains the necessity of a guard for his majesty on his visit to Belfast. What has caused the British government to place armored cars and troops in Ireland? Our own American papers tell us that, but for Mr. Murphy's benefit I will say it was not the Orangemen. Mr. Murphy doesn't know the meaning of the title "Orangeman" otherwise he would not be guilty of uttering the slanderous remarks that he has. Mr. Murphy refers to Mr. J. J. Murphy, Press tyro, as being responsible for the case whatsoever. But replying to his allusion to the "poor dupes of Protestants" who are misled by such men as Sir Edward Carson, Sir James Craig, Winston Churchill, and others, they are just as safe in placing their destiny in the hands of these men as to place it in the hands of any half-breed. Maybe the public is no bogey-man, nevertheless Ulster men remember the well known massacres that have been perpetrated on their forefathers by the southern

Irish.

I will answer the "ignorant Catholic" from this little city in Gazette of Oct. 10, by using his co-patriot's remark which was directed to "The Ulsterite" and "The American Citizen." If he is too cowardly or ashamed to print his name, I will ignore his letter completely. He may refer to the above.

Thanking you for your patience, I am, T. No. 2, Janesville, Wis.

Winter.

Trutona's great reconstructive powers, as a result of its remarkable effectiveness in overcoming after-effects of disease, countless Janesville residents are now using Trutona, building up their systems to ward off attacks of pneumonia, coughs, colds, sore throat, diphtheria, grippe and the like that are sure to come with the approaching winter. In other words, instead of waiting until they have suffered a serious and weakening winter ill, these foresighted people are taking Trutona FIRST which in most cases will preclude the possibility of contracting coughs, colds, pneumonia and the like. The following statements from local people strikingly show Trutona's remarkable reconstructive merits:

"I had almost given up hope for relief, but I've gained ten pounds in weight in a few short fifteen years younger, since taking Trutona," says W. N. Wiedemer, 152 S. Franklin St.

"I've the pep of a sixteen-year-old boy today and no matter how doubtful I may have been before I took Trutona I'm now," declares R. E. Moore, 320 Town Line avenue.

"After seeing what this medicine has done for my husband I know I can safely recommend Trutona to any weakened, rundown man or woman," says Mrs. John Fehle, 1216 McKinley Boulevard.

"Trutona will build up YOUR system to ward off attacks of pneumonia, coughs, colds, sore throat, diphtheria, la-gripe and the like, just as efficiently as it built up the systems of the above-mentioned people after they had become weakened and rundown as a result of the ravages of disease, so why wait until you've suffered a serious winter ailment before taking Trutona? Why not take Trutona-FIRST, as hundreds of your fellow residents are now doing?"

"I'm not exaggerating when I say I feel fully 100 per cent better since I've taken this medicine Trutona," is the tribute of Mrs. David Clark, 503 Milton avenue.

"I can't say enough good things about Trutona. It's the best medicine I've ever taken," says Mrs. John Fehle, 1216 McKinley Boulevard.

"Trutona is the best tonic I've ever taken. I've been taking it for over a year now and I feel better every day," says Mrs. John Fehle, 1216 McKinley Boulevard.

Giants Now Have Edge Despite Fact Series Stands Tie

Copyright 1920 by Geo. McManus.

M' GRAW PITCHERS IN BETTER SHAPE THAN YANKS' TWO

New York.—The Giants and Yankees were keyed up a sun-tone or so above normal Wednesday for the seventh game of the world's series, tied at games all by the Giants to a victory Tuesday after a week of warfare at the Polo Grounds.

They seemed to think that the breaks would appear Wednesday in the point out the ultimate victor in the championship struggle. The seven wins Wednesday will be only one victory in the throne, while the losers must take the next two games in succession to become world's champions.

Metropolitan fans believed the series will go the full 9 games. Regard, they say, how the teams over the span of a whole week showed themselves imbued with fit for fat spirit.

Giants Have Hurlers.

The advantage of power in the box score lies with the Giants. Douglass and Barnes have shown they can halt the rush of Yankees' bats. Douglass is booked to pitch Wednesday and Noth Thursday.

Neft lost two games to the Yankees largely because his teammates made but one run in 48 innings. This would lead to the ninth game assignment. Barnes, who twice has successfully rescued Toney from the torm of a Yank attack and then held them while the Giants pounded out victory.

On the other hand, Huggins has trotted out only two successful hurlers—Foyt and Mays—and the Giants vow they no longer talk of the underhand shots of Mays, having beaten him on his second start. It is Mays who may have to pitch a fourth time if the series goes the limit.

3 Homers in 10 Minutes.

Nobody may remember those last innings of Tuesday's game, a year hence, but even the most calloused folk do not expect to stop talking about the three home runs in less than 10 minutes, the three occasions when fielders stopped to let the clouds they could not catch by hunting themselves in front of the flying spheres, the long run of Fewster to absorb Young's foul, hard by the bleachers in the first inning, the undaunted spirit that carried the Giants to victory after the Yanks had twice gone ahead of them, and the manner in which Barnes curbed the Yankees when their bats were merrily swinging with the joy that Toney had ended.

Babe Ruth—sat in the grand stand Tuesday. May be it was just as well. His substitute, Fewster, hit a home run which Babe probably couldn't have done with his sore arm and the substitute got several long flies far from his position that Babe might not have reached because of his sore leg.

ENGLISH INVITE PENN RELAY TEAM

of the Janesville Bowling association will be held with the City league captains at the East Side alleys. The resignation of Treasurer M. Lampert will be acted upon and a new treasurer appointed. The vacancy due to Wisconsin state executive committee caused by Lampert's withdrawal will also be filled.

Straightening of small tangles up on the various teams and providing sixth men will also be worked out.

Five Injuries Keeping Bambino Out of Series

New York.—Babe Ruth is out of the series because of injuries he is suffering from five different hurts, any one of which probably would be sufficient to keep many players from the game.

Here are Ruth's injuries: Infected upper left arm, in which surgeons have made a three inch incision. The original injury was suffered in the Cleveland-New York series. The wound was torn open twice in the games of Sunday and Monday and the arm is badly swollen.

Sprained left foot suffered in mid-summer; has never had enough rest to regain strength.

Pulled tendon or "charley horse" in right leg; torn loose again Monday when he scored, from first on Meusel's two-base hit.

Sprained wrist caused by falling on his arm when sliding bases.

"Strawberry" or open sore on his hip caused by sliding bases and constantly re-opened.

Ruth says he could stand the pain and would play, but for the warning of physicians that constant aggravation would spread the infection in his arm and cause another and more serious operation.

Iowa Showing Strong Work in Big Ten

Chicago.—The Illinois-Iowa and the Ohio-Minnesota games hold chief interest in the schedule of Big Ten conference football battles this weekend. Iowa has the advantage of two victories this season to one for Illinois.

Last week, the Hawkeyes defeated Notre Dame, while the only match Illinois has had, that with South Dakota, did not offer a real contest.

When Ohio State, conference champion in 1920 meets Minnesota at Columbus, the two elevens will be handicapped about equally in veterans. The Buckeyes went down before Oberlin last Saturday 7 to 0. Minnesota will be lacking one of her stars, Arnold Oss, halfback, who was injured in the game with Northwestern Saturday. Purdue will meet Notre Dame at Lafayette.

Coach McDevitt of Northwestern contends that his team will make a good showing before the Badgers whom they meet Evanston, though his team has suffered three defeats already this season, at the hands of the conference elevens.

Barr May Play on Edgerton's New Grid Team

"Shorty" Barr, the University of Wisconsin quarter-back whose short passes won for the Badgers over Illinois last year, is expected to play with the Tobacco City football team now being formed at Edgerton. If he does, his first appearance will be against the Madison Kippas at Edgerton next Sunday. Barr is not eligible to play with the Badgers this year, having several "cons" against him.

Frank Barrett, manager of the Edgerton squad, is getting a formidable aggregation together. It is possible that E. S. Lamoreaux, assistant coach at Janesville high and director of Roile Williams, may occasionally coach the Edgerton team. It was Lamoreaux who put out Edgerton's crack high school team several years ago.

Some of the men who have been gathered for Edgerton's team are Holmes, all-western star; Charlie Sweeney, Edgerton high, and of other years; Jim Morris of Lawrence; Campbell Olback on the 1910-11 Edgerton high school team and of Mexican border football fame.

ICE-SKATING TITLE RACES AT CHICAGO

Chicago.—The international ice skating championship of the world will be decided in Chicago next winter. It was announced Wednesday.

The national ice skating and hockey tournament also will be staged here in January and February, 1922. Six hundred school boys will compete for honors won by the Chicago school team which toured eastern cities last year.

An inter-collegiate meet with Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and other Big Ten teams entered is set for the same period.
